

PEACE TERMS OF PEACE GIVEN BY CABINET OFFICER

Recovery of Alsace and Lorraine, Restoration of Belgium and Serbia, and Crushing of "German Imperialism" Constitute Peace Basis, Says Under-Secretary of War.

Paris, Dec. 6.—France will not make peace until Alsace and Lorraine are won, Belgium and Serbia restored and "German imperialism and Prussian militarism are put beyond the possibility of resurrection," Albert Thomas, under secretary of war, said yesterday.

The declaration of M. Thomas is attracting widespread attention, as it is one of the first statements from a responsible cabinet official concerning the attitude of the government in regard to peace.

The statements of M. Thomas were made in an address to a large crowd assembled in memory of the dead of the war of 1870. M. Thomas said: "There will be no peace until our Alsace and Lorraine are definitely re-established as part of the French unity.

"There will be no peace until our unfortunate brothers of Belgium and Serbia are assured of recovering their homes in complete security and independence.

"There will be no peace until German imperialism and Prussian militarism are put beyond the possibility of resurrection.

"There will be no peace until a system of right, founded on the victorious splendor of the Allies, and supported by the free adherence of neutrals, has abolished forever the violence of war.

"Whatever may be the sacrifices France united, will go steadily forward to accomplish this end. Today, before the terrible obstacles that confront them, justice and liberty have rallied in arms against them, with the machine gun and cannon."

The declaration of M. Thomas derives added significance from the fact that in addition to his connection with the cabinet, he is one of the leaders of the Socialist party.

Maurice Barrès, president of the League of Patriots, also addressed the memorial meeting.

"What is the meaning of the determination of France to carry on to the war to the end?" he asked. "It means

CONGRESS TAKES UP BIG TASK

Sixty-Fourth Session is Begun at Noon With Formal Organization of Both Branches of Body.

Champ Clark is Again Speaker of House, and Senator Clarke is Re-elected Senate President.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Congress reassembled at noon today for what promises to be the most important and historic session of a generation.

Proceedings in both House and Senate were brief, being confined entirely to organization and formal introduction of bills and resolutions. In accordance with custom both House and Senate adjourned and sent a committee to formally notify President Wilson that Congress was in session.

Tomorrow, the real work of the session begins when President Wilson delivers his annual address to a joint session assembled in the hall of the House.

In his opening address to the House, the Speaker paid tribute to Republican Leader Mann and predicted a practically continuous session hereafter.

"I am profoundly grateful to you at the high honor of the Speakership, thrice conferred by your friendship and confidence," he said. "I thank the Democrats for their personal good will which has attended me all my days here. By reason of the amazing growth of our beloved country and the bewildering increase of business the time is in sight when the Congress will remain practically in perpetual session. I hope this Congress will go into history as a working Congress."

The Senate floor and galleries presented the usual scene. James M. Baker, the secretary, called the session to order and the chaplain prayed for divine guidance for the preservation of peace at home and its restoration abroad.

Thirty-two newly elected Senators then were sworn in. Each was escorted by his colleague.

Speaker Clark was re-elected and sworn in amid cheers from the floor and galleries. In the Senate, the election was perfected by the re-election of Senator Clarke of Arkansas as president pro-tempore. Vice-President Marshall was not in the chair for the opening.

After swearing the new members in, the Senate recessed until 2:30 o'clock. In the House, meanwhile, bills and resolutions were pouring into the hopper and now holds options on about 400 feet of beach front including the Redefel lot, and cottages west of Flint's bathing pavilion, will erect a $25,000 hotel in the early spring. Plans for a bathing pavilion and boat docks are said to be included.

McCartin is said to contemplate removing his activities from Ocean beach, near New London, where he owns the Idle Hour hotel, and exercising himself in promoting Fairfield beach into a resort that will eclipse anything within a radius of 100 miles from New York. The Coney Island features will be similar, although boat connection from New York probably will be featured on Saturdays and Sundays.

Many persons along Fairfield beach, it is learned today, have been appealing for options and many are now held on beach property west of Penfield avenue. Deeds for the Fish property have been filed but do not record the full purchase price.

Judge is Lenient With Woman Who Assaulted Child

Mother is Best Friend of Boy, Even Though She Bit Him, Says Bartlett.

In view of the fact that she is the mother of the child and in the opinion of the court a mother is the best friend of a boy, Judge Frederick A. Bartlett in city court today failed to punish with a jail sentence, Mrs. Mary Esposito, aged 45, of 197 North Washington avenue, arraigned on a charge of assaulting her six-year-old son, Michael, and instead of the jail sentence, the court imposed a fine of $25 and costs upon the irate mother.

Sergeant Charles H. Wagner testified to having seen Mrs. Esposito chasing her son at North Washington avenue and Grand street about 10 a. m. yesterday, and on catching the child, grabbing him by the heels and hair, lifting him over her head and hurling him against the curbstone. She then picked him up and ran to her home with the semi-conscious child.

George E. Melius Estate is $10,000

George Esley Melius, vice president and treasurer of the H. C. Canfield Co., of the Union Metallic Cartridge Co., have remonstrated against the application of Frank J. Higgins, who wants a renewal of a liquor license at 936 Hallett street. Major Penfield signed for both remonstrants. It is claimed the location is unsuitable because there are already an excessive number of saloons in the neighborhood, because it is a manufacturing section and there is a public school nearby.

Major Penfield Signs Two Remonstrances

The Remington Arms & Ammunition Co. and the Union Metallic Cartridge Co., have remonstrated against the application of Frank J. Higgins, who wants a renewal of a liquor license at 936 Hallett street. Major Penfield signed for both remonstrants. Benham as a token of esteem from the various members of the police department. The present was a surprise to the ex-doorman and he was unable to respond. Supt. Birmingham made the presentation speech during which he said that Willis Benham was a competent official and that it was with the greatest of pleasure that he presented the retired policeman with a purse of which he was justly deserving. Ambassador Presents Request to State Department For Information As to Why Boy-Ed and Von Papen Should Go—Will Not Ask Safe Conduct For Them—U. S. Protest to England is Filed.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Count Von Bernstorff today presented to the State Department a communication asking for the reasons for the request for the withdrawal of Captain Boy-Ed and Captain Von Papen, the German naval and military attaches, respectively.

It was stated authoritatively though not in the communication that the ambassador would under no consideration ask the United States to get safe conducts for the attaches. The German government was represented as considering it incumbent upon the United States to return the attaches safely to German territory and bringing their successors here.

Count Von Bernstorff today made emphatic denial of reports that Germany or German official agents had been concerned in recent attempts to set up a counter revolution in Mexico.

Should it develop from the state department that other incidents than the Archibald case and the testimony at the trial of the conspirators of the Hamburg-American line were considered by the United States in asking for the withdrawal of the attaches, Germany will contest the withdrawal. Should the department reply that those two incidents alone were responsible, the withdrawal will take place without further inquiry or protest. Even then, however, Germany will consider that under the circumstances, the United States must open

VIGOROUS PROTEST FLED BY U.S. AGAINST SEIZURE OF STEAMERS BY BRITISH

Washington, Dec. 6.—Ambassador Page in London advised the State Department today that he had filed a vigorous protest with the British foreign office against requisitioning vessels of the American Transatlantic Co. without the formality of prize court proceedings.

The despatch did not contain the text of the protest of information regarding the intention of the British government. It is assumed at the State Department, however, that the Hocking, now at Halifax, and the Genesee at St. Lucia, West Indies, were among the vessels covered by the protest.

In a message of instructions from the State Department, the ambassador was told to inquire whether the British government intended to requisition the ships and, if so, to make a vigorous protest. He was told to insist that building of their withdrawal is now held for prize court to be settled at the earliest possible moment.

FIGHT WITNESSED BY CONGREGATION CAUSED PROTESTS

Members of Church Leaving Service See Battle in Front of Hotel Atlas.

A fight in front of the Hotel Atlas just as the congregation was leaving the Universalist church is reported to be the principal reason why a remonstrance was filed against the renewal of a liquor license to Prof. Atlas. The trouble took place only a short time ago and although the police were summoned to quell the disturbance no report was ever made about the matter.

Prominent members of the Universalist church say that when the hotel was opened, Prof. Atlas declared it was to be a bona fide hotel, catering mostly to transient trade. He promised there would be no noise but since the cabaret feature has been started there have been many complaints from the church members.

The church members who signed the remonstrance are Assistant Clerk Fred W. Tracy of the superior court, Charles B. Buckingham, Nathan C. Buckingham, Dr. Charles P. Waller, E. H. Greene, and William J. Taft. Rev. William W. Rose, pastor of the church, headed the remonstrance.

The county commissioners stated this morning that they had not received a remonstrance from the First Methodist church, although there were rumors that Rev. George M. Brown was circulating one. No date has yet been assigned for a hearing on the Hotel Atlas case. It is claimed that the hotel is less than 150 feet from the Universalist church and it is detrimental to the morals of the community.

TRAIN MISSES LOADED TROLLEY BY FEW INCHES

Wreck and fatality at the North Avenue crossing of the Housatonic railroad were averted by a narrow margin on Thursday when a Pittsfield-Bridgeport passenger train and a well-loaded trolley car missed each other by a few inches.

Heroic efforts to prevent collision were made by the trolley crew and by the veteran engineer of the express, due in this city at 6:47 p. m. when the trolley was caught with its side of the wire as the train rounded the curve above Eckart's brewery.

But for the presence of mind of Peter Collins, flagman at the crossing, death might have resulted to about a score of men and women who were caught in the car, too terrified to move, as the express bore down upon them with brakes clamped under high pressure.

Oliver E. Cook, a machinist in the Standard Mfg. Co. on Housatonic avenue, an eye witness to the incident, related the following facts to the Farmer today:

"I was approaching North avenue to get a car over town when I saw the trolley just ahead of me. The conductor ran forward to see that the tracks were clear and beckoned to the motorman to cross. As the forward trucks of the trolley crossed the railroad the pole jumped off. At this moment the Pittsfield train rounded the curve above. The conductor ran to the back of the car and grasped the rope. He made several ineffectual efforts to replace the wheel, but so nervous was he that he could not locate the wire.

"The motorman stood upon the platform ready to back his car. A flagman (Peter Collins, 235 Warren street) yelled to the motorman to release his brakes. This was quickly complied with and the car rolled backwards under the force of gravity. There was a considerable rise on North avenue at the easterly approach to the Housatonic tracks."

Henry McCartin, a wealthy hotel owner of Hartford and New London, who recently bought the Harold Fish cottage at the foot of Penfield avenue, and now holds options on about 400 feet of beach front including the Redefel lot, and cottages west of Flint's bathing pavilion, will erect a $25,000 hotel in the early spring. Plans for a bathing pavilion and boat docks are said to be included.
